

An invitation to attend the Lynch Syndrome Symposium

All students, clinicians, nurses and consumers are invited to attend the following:

Creating a Multidisciplinary team approach to identifying and treating patients with Lynch Syndrome.

Date: Tuesday 21 March 2017

Time: 9am – 12:30pm

Location: Flinders Centre for Innovation in Cancer,
Ground Floor Function Room

Morning tea will be provided.

Gold coin donation at the door (Flinders Foundation).

Please RSVP by the 14 March 2017 to kathryn.cornthwaite@sa.gov.au or phone:

(08) 8204 6143.

Please complete the registration form, CPD Points available.

Lynch Syndrome is an inherited genetic mutation which gives people an increased chance of developing certain cancers across their lifetime, often at a younger age than the general population.

Thousands of Australians are estimated to have Lynch Syndrome & over 90 per cent of individuals remain undiagnosed and at risk.

If you would like to learn more about this public health issue to help identify this vulnerable group of patients, and maybe save a life. Reserve your seat today!

